Winston Cobb, 22, 4-H Club Champion, Dies Early Monday

Hope Youth Succumbs in Hot Springs From Pneumonia

ALTON CCC RECRUIT

Was Only Son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cobb of Near This City

Winston Cobb, 22, former district and state 4-H cattle judging champion, died at 4:15 a. m. Monday in the government hospital at Hot Springs. Death was caused by pneumonia. Young Cobb was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cobb, who reside on the Centerville road, three miles south-east of Hope.

Born in Hempstead county, he was educated in the public schools of Hope. He was graduated from Hope High School in 1931.

He took considerable interest in 4-H club work. Besides winning district and state honors, he was awarded two trips to St. Louis through 4-H club activities.

He was an active church worker and a member of the First Presbyterian church of Hope. He recently joined the Alton CCC camp. He developed pneumonia and was taken to the Army and Navy hospital at Hot Springs about 10 days ago.

The body will be returned here Monday night.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cobb.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Monday outside, pending word from relatives outside the state.

Begins Quintuplets' Education

With appointment of a new head nurse for the quintuplets, their pre-school training begins. Jacqueline Noel, right, will start them in their native French, and give other training suitable to the babies' 20 months. They will learn their English later. Miss Noel, an expert linguist, is a graduate of the Verdun Hospital, Montreal.

The "Dry" Side Deplores Revenue Issue in Campaign for Prohibition

Timberlake Sees Alliance Between Whisky and State Politicians

GREED OF APPETITE

Declares Adult Drinkers Slander Youth in Order to Gain a Point

Editor The Star—The brewers and their stoutest allies, the whisky and the liquor interest, are the weak places and the weakest spot in man's pocketbook, hence the cry for prohibition.

Before we drop the curtain and pronounce our judgment let us analyze this and see if we can not find a reason for this cry for legalized liquor or the dispensary? Is it the churches? Is it the fathers and mothers who love their children more than greed and appetite? Is it the preachers of America? Is it the teachers in our high schools? Is it our scout masters? Is it our P. T. A.? Is it our teachers and leaders in our churches and colleges?

No.

An Unholy Combine

Then who is backing this and who will be the beneficiaries? The brewers and the distillers and a state political ring who would be dominated and controlled by the liquor interest. Reason, logic and common sense will sustain this statement.

Under this plan the state furnishes everything but the liquor and the brewers furnish this. What a wonderful partnership this would be! A state political machine in partnership with the most unscrupulous, debauching crowd that ever came down a political highway. Wouldn't this be a carnival of corruption? But we are going to keep it out of politics as the advocates of the liquor interest. "Time if true. But the contrary is the case. The liquor traffic owes its life to politics. The only liquor traffic that will not be in politics is a dead one. Its only way out of politics is to prove the worthlessness of prohibition as a substantial improvement in the drinking habits of Arkansas people between the outlawing of liquor in 1915 and the legalization of liquor in 1935.

But the record shows, just as the homicide record for the whole United States shows, not that peoples' habits grew either better or worse, but that they didn't change at all—THAT PROHIBITION DID NOT MATTER ONE WAY OR THE OTHER.

Arkansas—"Wet" State No. 2!

Copyright 1936, A. H. Washburn; reproduction, either wholly or in part, forbidden without written permission of the copyright owner.

STATE-WIDE prohibition ruled Arkansas for 20 years, and for 13 of those 20 years the state's tax funds and enforcement agencies were backed up by the power of the federal government.

For the 20 prohibition years there were no figures, of course, on whisky sales in our state. Liquor was outlawed—and yet, according to persistent rumor for most of those 20 years, the outlaws outnumbered law-abiding citizens.

Arkansas had a reputation abroad, as every well-traveled citizen knows, of being a heavy consumer of liquor, whether legal or illegal. But this, I say, was only rumor—the impression gathered by the traveler throughout our state, and the stories he heard about it when abroad in other states; but always the same story, that Arkansas drank heavily.

The year 1935 ended the prohibition era and brought this state's liquor consumption figures out into the open where they could be studied.

Prohibition never had any basis in the habits, tradition or law of civilized people—but it was frankly an experiment in the theory that if whisky could be outlawed, and the law enforced, whisky would pass out of our economic and moral life. You heard the prohibitionists say, years ago, "Outlaw whisky—and the new generation will know nothing about it." But for debate purposes the prohibitionists would not have needed to show a perfect record, any more than we expect perfection of anything else in life; all that was necessary to prove the worthlessness of prohibition was a substantial improvement in the drinking habits of Arkansas people between the outlawing of liquor in 1915 and the legalization of liquor in 1935.

But the record shows, just as the homicide record for the whole United States shows, not that peoples' habits grew either better or worse, but that they didn't change at all—THAT PROHIBITION DID NOT MATTER ONE WAY OR THE OTHER.

years, doesn't change people's habits—it merely hides the figures.

x x x

YOU and I remember all our life long just one solitary thing about whisky. What you remember is a picture in a physiology textbook—an unforgettable picture.

It is the picture of a normal man's liver, and, compared with it, the liver of a chronic drunkard—shriveled up to nothing.

When that happens, men die. You don't want to die. And so you remember that picture. But what if you never happened to see that picture?

Then that is a crime against society and the government and schools of a civilized state. For it is the FIRST DUTY OF GOVERNMENT TO PLACE THE FACTS OF LIFE AND HEALTH BEFORE ITS PEOPLE.

The prohibitionist attempts to prove that his law made people healthier, made their habits better, and made society safer. But the truth is that society improves only as it is led—not driven.

And the way to lead is by education. One picture of a shriveled liver is worth a million man-made laws—and every reader of this newspaper knows that that is true.

It is sound public morality, for instance, to tax liquor and to furnish free textbooks to the public schools.

FREE TEXTBOOKS WOULD PUT PICTURES OF WHISKY-SHRIVELED LIVERS BEFORE CHILDREN WHO TODAY STAND A CHANCE TO GROW UP TO MANHOOD AND WOMANHOOD WITHOUT EVER HAVING BEEN "SHOWN".

This would be true progress. This would be true morality. It is the way people think—and the way industry and government operate.

You read a "bleeding-gums" advertisement—and you buy a tooth-paste which you hope will stop bleeding-gums.

You read the advertisement which says "Your best friend won't tell you"—and so that certain something to prevent halitosis is what you buy.

The power of education is tremendous. Advertising is a form of education. That's why this newspaper bars whisky from its advertising columns.

But the state has done nothing constructive—and least constructive of all are the statutory prohibitionists who would make liquor once more tax-free. The state realized $659,845 from whisky taxation in 1935, and against this figure State Commissioner of Education W. E. Phipps estimated this week-end it would cost $975,543 for free textbooks for all the elementary schools. He estimated $731,505 would cover the texts for the first six grades alone—and that's very nearly the size of Arkansas' whisky tax.

Court to Require Another Week; Tax Act Held Invalid

Decision on Newspapers Magazine Advertising Handed Down

UPHOLD SALARY ACT

Sheriff Gover Given 15 Months on Conspiracy Charges

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The long-awaited supreme court decision on the constitutionality of the TVA, was extended another week Monday when the court wound up its announcements of decisions without action on this case.

The court did rule on the late Huey P. Long's Louisiana law declaring unconstitutional an act taxing newspaper, magazines and motion picture advertising. The decision was unanimous.

Justice Sutherland, in an opinion, said that the act curtailed revenue and restricted circulation.

The constitution must be protected against "hostile state action," he said.

Salary Act Valid

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—The validity of the Arkansas county initiative salary act, adopted November 6, 1934, was upheld Monday by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

The decision reversed an Arkansas county chambery ruling last September which held the act void in granting an injunction to J. W. Searns, restraining county officers from proceeding under the terms of the act.

Sheriff Is Sentenced

FORT SMITH, (AP)—Harley Gover, 20, Washington county sheriff, was sentenced Monday by Federal Judge Heavill to serve 15 months in prison on two counts, and was given a $200 fine for conspiracy to violate the internal revenue laws.

Bob Baker of Fayetteville, convicted with Gover on conspiracy charges in transporting intoxicating liquor into Arkansas for sale before prohibition was repealed, was sentenced to 15 months and was fined $100.

Advocates Strength

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Declaring that Japan intends to close the door of China to America "even if war is necessary to accomplish it," Chairman Pittman, Democrat, of the foreign relations committee, Monday advocated naval and air forces "sufficient to protect" the United States' rights.

Negro Bound Over in Fatal Shooting

Percy Heard Held in Killing of Woman Near Fulton

Percy Heard, negro, arraigned before Municipal Court Judge W. K. Lemley here Monday, waived preliminary examination on a murder charge and was committed to jail without bond.

Heard was arrested near Fulton Saturday for the fatal shooting of Arie Smith, negro woman, which occurred on the Gilbert farm about 3 a. m. Saturday.

Sheriff Bearden said that Heard shot the negro woman to death as she slept. The weapon used was a .38 caliber pistol. Sheriff Bearden said that jealousy resulted in the shooting.

Other court procedure:

A. D. Lane, negro, charged with burglary and grand larceny was bound over to the grand jury. Bond was set at $750. Lane is charged with robbery of the Harry Whitworth home, South Elm street.

Jack Oliver, negro, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and was fined $25 and sentenced to a day in jail. He was accused with theft of a watch from Mary Green.

Curtis Robertson, Missouri-Pacific brakeman, was acquitted on a charge of robbery. He was accused of taking $150 from George Wiggins.

John Lee Cantley, charged with theft of a chicken, was acquitted.

Ralph Smith, charged with theft of a chicken, was acquitted.

The trial of Tom, Oscar and Melton Powell, brothers, over theft of a hog was scheduled for 4 p. m. Monday.

City Cases:

Clintie Dodson, Silas Atkins, Leonard Wood, J. B. Munn and L. Jones pleaded guilty to drunkenness and each was fined $10 and costs.

Fred Moore was fined $25 and sentenced to a day in jail.

Fuel Shortage in North Acute

Snowdrifts and Cold Grip Much of Nation; Burn Fence Posts

CHICAGO, (AP)—Towering snowdrifts and cold crippled much of the mid-continent Monday. The fight against the elements was returning to pioneer days. Isolated ranchers in South Dakota burned fence posts and hay to keep warm.

Their city cousins in snow-bound communities in that and other areas of the central states rationed fuel against sub-zero cold.

The zero front pushed as far south as the extreme southern part of Missouri.

Warren Winning Streak Broken

Bobcats Break Even in Two Games—4 Battles This Week

The 21-game winning streak of the Warren High School basketball team was snapped here Saturday afternoon when the Hope High School cagers triumphed, 29 to 19.

In the second game the Bobcats reversed their form and took a 54 to 18 drubbing from the Warren team. Both contests attracted capacity crowds.

Coach Foy Hammons announced Monday that the Bobcats would engage in four games this week, the first one to be played Monday night against Bearden High School here. The game starts at 7:30 p. m.

Tuesday night the Bobcats will go to Camden.

McNeill, reported to be one of the strongest teams in district 10, will come here for an engagement Wednesday night.

Friday night the Bobcats go to Texarkana for a return game with the Razorbacks.

Officer Is Robbed

TULSA, Okla., (AP)—Frank Todd, policeman, was recovering Friday night after being gassed and robbed of $640 at his home earlier in the day.

Backsliding Church Members Responsible for Moral Crisis

Rev. W. Paul Hodge, Nazarene Pastor, Attacks Liquor Problem From Standpoint of Christian Congregation

Editor The Star: Although I can not vote in the coming election I feel it my duty to at least express my convictions.

Writing as the pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, I wish to say that our church is 100 per cent teetotaler, and we are guarding our ranks against those who take any other stand. In our church there are none who even work in business establishments that sell 3.2, to say nothing of hard liquor.

We as a church earnestly believe that the only way we will succeed against this deadly evil is not through legislation but through the example of those who claim to know God and hold to some church. The King of the universe says: "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven. He also says: "A house divided against itself cannot stand, therefore we challenge all churches to lift up a standard in our practices, and in this way we will finally win the VICTORY.

(All right, come on, you devil-possessed, carnal-minded church members and stand by your church in this battle, or play the part of a man and get out. You have made the house of our God a house of merchandise and a den of thieves. You have defiled the temple of God, and God says "If I will destroy the Temple of God I will destroy you, which Temple Ye Are.")

Not as a pastor but as an individual I write the following line. I do not lay the blame for having liquor the manufacturer, or the retailer, but at the feet of the backsliding church members of all denominations, and from the bottom of my heart I believe that God will hold this same crowd responsible for this awful condition in which we find ourselves. If every person in this grand old U. S. who belongs to a church and in so doing is trying to make you and I believe he is Christian, would repent of wickedness and take a Christ-like stand in life within six months we would not find a single retail liquor store with open doors—because there would be no business and none of them are in the business for their health. Not these conditions but the DEPRESSION would be history and peace would reign in our land.

As an individual I say to the church members of this country if you for one will begin from this day forward to act as though you are a Christian, liquor will go from our country and will stay out as long as you continue to act as a Christian.

The olden days people were called Christians because they acted like Christ. Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today, and forever.

Now to the liquor crowd I speak as a minister and a Christian. I have your eternal souls and am praying that the God of the universe will save you from your wickedness. I know you are not taking the stand you say by personal choice, but because of the spirit of wickedness that is in your heart. "The wicked shall be turned into Hell." Therefore I shall to you in the name of the Christ "Renounce and forsake your wickedness or perish."

W. PAUL HODGE, Pastor, Church of the Nazarene, 11 South Elm St., Hope, Ark.

Youth and Liquor

Blasphemous the claim of the state to righteousness or love and sympathy for childhood, which proposes to deprive revenue from a traffic in human poverty and misery. Our youth is being ruined by bootleg liquor so the only way to save them from ruin is to legalize and control it. No more lawless nonsense than this was ever uttered. This moral advice was hatched and given out from the back room of the liquor dealer. The stager of the moral patriots would not be a safe example or guide to modern youth. Some of those most valuable and virtuous of today seem to be actuated not so much by a desire to save youth as to keep liquor for the purpose of gratifying their own greed and appetite. America's youth doesn't need to be apologized for nearly so much and is not so prone to a moral problem as American maturity. In yesterday's Star I read what I have been looking for. A full page advertisement from some pseudo temperance leader pleading with such fervor for the youth. Let me give two more of the same kind. Mr. C. D. Williams quoted by the Christian Science Monitor, "We can all have the comforting reflection that every time we take a drink of beer we are performing a patriotic act."

In Brewery Industry published in New York: "When beer comes back what is the first step brewers will take to restore temperate drinking among the youth of the land? It is a responsibility the brewers must assume. There must be a campaign of education and the one field in which this can be conducted is fortunately, the most important of all for immediate and future business—colleges. Super patriots, these pious defenders of America's youth."

Presbyterian Men to Meet Tuesday Night

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Presbyterian church men will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the church dining rooms, with the usual lunch served by the Church Auxiliary ladies.

The men's committee in charge is: John Guthrie, N. T. Jewell and L. Carter Johnson.

ARKANSAS on its 1935 sales record was the second-heaviest purchaser of whisky per capita of any state in America!

The authority for these figures is the best in the world—Mida's Criterion, which is the liquor trade journal for America, co-operating with Erwin, Wasey & Co., famous New York advertising agency. I obtained these figures through The Star's advertising broker, Arkansas Dailies, Inc., 303 Sterick Building, Memphis, Tenn., and a copy of the original Arkansas prospectus is on file at The Star office.

There is some dispute over the exact findings. The New York Post placed Arkansas first among the whisky-drinking states. But Mida's Criterion represents the entire industry, and its survey should be authoritative until confirmed by government statistics—which are not yet ready for 1935.

Mida's Criterion asserts that Arkansas, the 35th state in population, ranks 12th in total domestic whisky sales, 10th in Scotch whisky, and 12th in gin.

Arkansas purchased 3.0248 per cent of all domestic whisky purchased in the United States, against a population percentage of 1.5—a ratio of slightly more than two percent of whisky for every one percent of population.

Only one other state in America exceeded that record—Minnesota, which had 5.5223 of the nation's whisky for 2.0 per cent of the nation's population, a ratio of two and three-fourths to one. Florida was a close third to Arkansas, with 2.3947 per cent of whisky and 1.2 per cent of population—just under a ratio of two to one.

The record of the so-called "big wet states" is good by comparison.

New York bought 11,9801 per cent of the nation's whisky, against 10.3 per cent of the nation's population, a ratio of a little over one to one.

Pennsylvania showed 5.2907 of whisky against 7.8 of population—less than one to one.

Ohio, home of the Anti Saloon League, was a little bit higher than either of them—6.3239 of whisky against 5.4 of population.

California's showing was 5.4014 of whisky against 4.6 of population.

And so on down the line of states—proving nothing in particular except this:

That a man-made law, even when extensively enforced over a period of 20

Confesses Slaying of Divorced Wife

Dennis Turner, 46, Admits Killing in Calhoun County

EL DORADO, Ark., (AP)—Prosecutor Alvin Stevens announced Monday that Dennis Turner, 46-year-old wood-chopper, had confessed the strangulation slaying of his 42-year-old divorced wife a week ago in Calhoun county.

Stevens quoted Turner as saying that his former wife, a mother of three children, threatened to have him arrested for forcing his attentions upon her and that he decided to do away with her.

A preliminary hearing for the accused man will be held next Saturday at Hampton.

Mrs. Turner's body was found in the woods near Tinsman with a length of hogwire about her throat.

Turner was questioned at Little Rock last week and then returned to El Dorado and confessed.

County Tourney Here Saturday

Championship for Junior Boys to Be Decided at Armory

The Hempstead county junior boys' basketball tournament will be held Saturday, February 15, in the armory building at Hope.

All coaches of the county are urged to meet in the office of the armory building at 9:30 a. m. Saturday to enter their teams.

The tournament, according to Coach Hugh Bristow of Guernsey, will be a double-elimination affair. The first game will start at 10 a. m.

Patmos, Spring Hill, Columbus, Bixens and Guernsey are said to have fairly strong squads. Entrance of these five schools is assured.

Other schools expected to enter the tournament are Fulton, Slatona, Du-Aun, McCaskill, Bolton, Rocky Mount and Piney Grove.

Officials will be selected Saturday.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Whether your child eats lunch at school or at home, be sure to take utmost pains with the food that is given him. At school or in kindergarten children usually eat better than they do at home, since in school they have the example of other children who have learned how to eat correctly. Moreover, at home the child can get away with tantrums or tears, whereas in the school there seldom is any coaxing, threatening, or encouragement of emotional outbursts.

Many authorities urge that the heaviest meal for the child should be at noon.

The main dish should be one which will provide adequate protein. It may be an egg scramble, creamed eggs, meat ball, or some similar protein food. There should also be one fresh green vegetable.

Today's Health Question
Q.—What is meant by blood count of 10,000? What should the blood count be, ordinarily? Under ordinary conditions, what is the correct number of red corpuscles in the blood stream?

A.—A person is said to have a blood count of 10,000 when there are 10,000 white blood corpuscles to a cubic millimeter of blood. The count is made under a microscope in a special chamber prepared for that purpose.

The blood is diluted to facilitate counting, and the dilution is then figured in computing the blood count.

The normal count ranges from 6,000 to 8,000. Variation in numbers may mean infection, abnormal concentration of the blood, or blood disease.

Human blood varies in its red cell count according to a number of factors, but a fair average is from 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 red blood cells to the cubic millimeter of blood.

Leafy vegetables, which may be used in a sandwich on whole wheat bread or in a salad; likewise, one cooked vegetable.

Milk should be the beverage, modified occasionally by cocoa. Finally, there should be fruit or some other dessert usually flavored with fruit.

A meat worked out in this manner will provide proteins, carbohydrates, fats, mineral salts, and vitamins; and particularly calcium, phosphorus, and iron.

There are now available numerous booklets, including those issued by the Children's Bureau in the Department of Labor and by the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., which give detailed outlines of menus suitable for the growing child.

Here are some valuable suggestions: When lunch must be carried to school, a thermos bottle will keep at least one food warm. The hot dish may be cocoa, milk soup, vegetable stew, stewed lima beans, or some other easily prepared, nourishing food.

Here are some typical simple lunches which children may carry to school:

- 1.—Cocoa (made of milk), one-half to one pint; peanut butter sandwiches, ripe banana, cookies.
- 2.—Vegetable stew, small amount of meat, potato, carrots, onions, etc.; bread and butter, milk, red apple, grape crackers.
- 3.—Potato soup, lettuce, sandwiches, baked apple, gingerbread.
- 4.—Stewed lima beans, bread and butter, milk, ripe peaches, cup cake.

Little noon meals such as these will provide the child with the substances he needs in his body for growth, health, and energy.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

The flight of the exile from Nazi Germany will probably continue to furnish a good springboard for high-flying novelists for years to come. It provides a made-to-order setting for the romance; exile, devotion to duty, the separation of lovers, and a neat overtone of suffering and a lost cause—your novel is half written before you start.

The newest venture in this field is "Journey Into Freedom" by Klaus Mann.

This book tells about a young German girl who gets out of Germany one jump ahead of the storm troops and takes refuge with a girl friend in Finland. She has her heart set on Communism, and she plans to join them there, and gnaw away at the foundations of Nazi rule, as soon as she has caught her breath.

But before this happens, she falls in love with the brother of her girl friend; and the next thing she knows, she is off with him on an idyllic motor trip to the shores of the Arctic, leaving her friends in Paris to get along as best they can.

Among these friends, by the way, is her former sweetheart, a devout Marxist, whom her sudden yen for the new Finnish lover has caused her to forget.

All goes well until the discarded sweetheart returns to Germany on a secret mission. He is caught, and gets shot. Our young exile gets this news while basking under the thin rays of the midnight sun, and is jarred out of her idyll. The love affair ends, and she hurries back to Paris, to rejoin her friends and resume the job of fighting Hitler.

It all makes a rather appealing book. Published by Knopf, it sells for $2.50.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

For years we have been hearing that the sensitive people of the world give the most to art and beauty, and that creative genius along soulful lines would be found wanting if it were not for them.

I think another sentence needs to be added, though: that the too-sensitive and hyper-emotional person is the most useless of mortals, unless there is a goodly proportion of the practical in him, and an ability to put behind him his own personal feelings for the moment. He becomes unfitted for any kind of work otherwise.

This brings us to the matter of the child. He is to be standardized, and all his sensitiveness discouraged, or we are doing him a favor to live and sympathize alone rule his life and his happiness.

Here I am speaking of extremes, of course, as love and sympathy cannot be questioned in any ordinary sense. On the other hand, when the child's roots are buried too deeply in an emotional life, he can suffer as terribly through them as he can enjoy their benefits. All feeling has this double reaction. As we reach the very peak of happiness through an emotion, just so can we descend to the depths of agony through it. Each summit has its counterpart in the depths. I think we should remember this.

It is natural for a mother to wrap her children tenderly in her love. Natural to protect the child who is "high strung" as she calls it, or deeply imaginative. Natural for her to take a certain pride in saying that her Jim feels more deeply than the rest. She takes pride in remarking that someday he will do great things and through his finer feelings, be a master of sorts.

He is a dreamer, naturally. He has moods, naturally. He suffers at times from vague apprehension, naturally. He needs understanding and humor, and she is the one to do it because she is the only one who does understand him, so she thinks. She not only protects him from the crudities and musts of daily life, but by her motherly tactics deepens the finer emotions by exaggerated demonstrations.

It does not occur to her that this highly sensitized boy need not be fed more emotion. He needs understanding and sympathetic handling, but what he needs also is a bedrock of will and determination and control. If his gifts are to be of the least use to him, or anyone else, in the future. Forcing cannot be used. But his whole life can be filled with activity to displace some of the dreaming. This activity should be attractive enough to get him interested. Sports and games and outdoor exercises. Cultivate hobbies. See that he has friends and does not withdraw into himself too much. A normal amount of movies and books, but not to the exclusion of other things.

Toughen him gradually to real life. He will keep his dream world and seek his escapes; but at the same time he will be getting a more wholesome attitude toward people. Work he must have, and do. No genius ever got anywhere without the work habit. But this should be along the lines he is suited to. Otherwise he will rebel altogether and all will be lost.

Glorifying Yourself

By Alicia Hart

Occasionally you see or hear about a complexion (generally it's a rather oily one) which stays lovely and seems to thrive on soap and water alone. Lacking as they are in natural oil, this never is true of hands. They

State Property Tax $3,277,761

Hempstead County Pays $44,819.50 in General Taxes

LITTLE ROCK.—The state's share of general property taxes collected in 1935 by county collectors on the basis of 1934 assessed valuations totaled $3,277,761.32, state Auditor Charles E. Parker announced over the week-end, following compilation of collectors' final settlements with the auditor and treasurer.

The tax was derived from the 8.7 mills state levy on real and personal property.

Southwest Arkansas collections by the counties:

Hempstead	$44,819.50
Howard	24,901.45
LaFayette	25,593.55
Nevada	23,872.01
Miller	72,085.59

need soap and water, too, but they also need lotions and creams.

Keep hand lotion not only in the bathroom but above the kitchen sink and in the drawer of your office desk. Massage it in after each wash. This does keep your hands smooth and white and lovely, using olive oil or a rich cream one night a week. Put the oil on before you go to bed and wear clean cotton gloves while you sleep.

Stains on your hands can be removed with fresh lemon juice. If you like, use a lotion that bleaches and softens at the same time. There's a new one on the market today which does just this. Containing almond oil, pure honey and cucumber juice, it keeps hands and wrists soft and white. Incidentally, during cold weather it can be used on legs and knees and as a pre-bath lotion. Undress, massage the lotion into skin from head to foot and leave on while you brush your teeth and cream your face. Then bathe in the usual manner.

Remember of course, that hands which artists describe as fluid are important. If you do exercises to keep your waistline, neck and legs supple, why not do some to make hands and wrists flexible and graceful?

Sit in a chair, letting arms hang limply at your sides. Make believe that you are shaking water from your finger tips. Bend wrists back and forth until they no longer are stiff. When you have finished, wash your hands and, with upward strokes, massage cream or lotion from fingertips to wrists.

The Strange Case of Julia Craig

by Nard Jones Copyright NEA 1935

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD, lawyer, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Because of this she quarrels with PETER KEMP, young lawyer who is in love with her.

Julia shares an apartment with TOM PAYSON, a young attorney.

Woodford gives a party and asks Julia to come as a singer. She is flattered, but she is not ready to give up her job.

They go to Evergreen Island, where Woodford has a lodge. There Julia meets TOM PAYSON, a young attorney, who is in love with her.

License Tag Revenue Over Million Dollars

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—State Revenue Commissioner Earl H. Wiseman said over the week-end that $1,182,741.99 in auto license fees had been tabulated and estimated that $300,000 additional was in the process of auditing.

Wiseman said figures on the number of licenses issued before the penalty went into effect at midnight last Tuesday would not be available for a week or 10 days.

"We have had fewer complaints this year than we did last year on the revoking of the penalty," Wiseman said. "I extended the license buying period as long as I could to stay within my appropriation."

7 CCC Recruits Rescued Monday

Had Been Marooned on Ice Floe for 22 Hours

BOSTON.—(AP)—Seven CCC youths, marooned on a floating piece of ice in Cape Cod bay since noon Sunday, were rescued by coast guardsmen Monday.

The rescue came 22 hours after they had been cast adrift when the ice broke from the mainland at Brewster. The rescue was accomplished by use of a small boat.

Adrift on Ice
BREWSTER, Mass.—(AP)—Seven youths from a Civilian Conservation Corps camp drifted helplessly on an ice floe in Cape Cod bay Sunday night, out from the wavy snowstorm, by darkness and with low visibility.

The Coast Guard cutter Harriet Lane fought through the ice choked channel toward the floating island, but made slow progress. Smaller craft were forced to turn back. First sighted just before dusk, the youths were three miles from shore.

The seven, all under 20, had been hiking along the ice earlier in the day with companions from a nearby CCC camp. They became separated from others and were caught when high tide and a stiff southeasterly dislodged the cake from the main body of ice. The floe appeared from shore to be about a quarter of a mile long and 200 yards wide.

The lads were dressed warmly in woolen slacks and shirt, heavy mackinaw and cap with ear-laps.

The ice choked bay, which impeded rescuers, at the same time lessened possibility the marooned group would be carried into open water and thence out to sea.

Mercury Falls to 12½ Degrees Here

Winter's Record Set Sunday—Monday Little Warmer With Low of 20

Sunday saw the coldest weather this winter in the Hope area—the mercury in the official thermometer of the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station dropping to 12½ degrees.

It was warming up a bit Monday, but slowly. "The day" overnight was 20 degrees, but the temperature was only 20½ at noon Monday. Sunday's "low" of 12½ compared with a previous record of 14 degrees, reached twice during the winter.

Pioneer Nevada Resident Dies

Anders Monson, 95, Succumbs at Prescott Sunday Night

PRESCOTT, Ark.—(AP)—Anders Monson, 95, pioneer Prescott resident, died at his home here Sunday night.

A native of Sweden, he came to Prescott in 1873 and erected the town's first two-story building. He previously lived in Ludington, Mich., and Moscow, Nevada county, Ark.

He is survived by three daughters, six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon.

The Bootlegging Curse
Editor The Star: I have been reading your editorials in The Star and I for one can take the same kind of a stand against the bootlegger.

No one knows the bitter curse of a bootlegger and his evil better than I, for I spent seven years in a bootlegger's settlement once, and it was seven years in hell. I prefer open saloons—for then taxes would go to the government and perhaps in some way aid the drunkard's family.

I have known the bootlegger to take shorts and sugar from the drinker to make on "halves" when he knew the family was in need, and then laugh about it in the family's face.

I know good men who would have a home today if it had not been for a still in every neck of the woods.

The bootlegger insists on the inebriated drinking in order to clear himself and keep their mouths shut. I have known the bootlegger to give liquor away until he could get his victims where he wanted them so they would not tell on him.

It has caused me for one to lose confidence in mankind.

I have known the bitter curse of the bootlegger and to my thinking a man who drinks bootleg whisky will drink anything. When there were no liquor stores we had the whole country full of jake-leg from drinking canned-heat bootleg made from mash soured with concentrated yeast.

If any of my folks drank any more I'd prefer that they went to the liquor store and got it. But thank God in Heaven for his ever-protecting arm that always answers prayers and who saves loved ones from a drunkard's hell.

Mind you, I said I had lost confidence in mankind, but never, no, never, in the Almighty God. We can all be followers of Him wherever we may be. We can be ladies and we can be gentlemen wherever and whatever kind of a crowd we are in.

I'm silently praying for whatever God sees best to just let it be that way.

What we need is more praying people who humbly trust in God, who do not hold a grudge against their fellow man, who can see the good in the most humble ones, and never see the bad. I mean—a good true Christian who is the same day by day and hour by hour.

I do not vote. I never did—and I never will. But I am a true, hard-working American mother and wife who leaves voting to my menfolk as I never have time. But I am 100 per cent for the liquor stores.

Oil Embargo May Not Be Imposed

League of Nations May Not Assess Penalty on Italians

By the Associated Press
A probability that the League of Nations would not impose an oil embargo against Italy was seen Monday in diplomatic discussions in Geneva.

Recent developments in the Mediterranean area, notably nationalist riots in Egypt, Syria and other sections demonstrated adequately what the British feared throughout the Italo-Ethiopian struggle.

A continuation of war between the whites and blacks will likely have repercussions under other flags. As for the actual fighting at present there apparently is none.

Black-Draught Good Laxative

Black-Draught has been kept on hand for all the family in the home of Mr. W. A. Lennox, of Independence, Va., since twenty years ago. Mr. Lennox writes that he takes it as a laxative in cases of "headaches, dull, tired feeling, biliousness."

"And I take it if I feel uncomfortable after a heavy meal," he adds, "I especially use it for sick headache. It certainly is good."

When a man says "Black-Draught is good," it is probably because he remembers the prompt, refreshing relief it brought in constipation troubles. Its benefits are felt because it is a simple, herb laxative, so natural in composition and action that thousands and thousands of men and women prefer it when a laxative is needed.

Friends
"I would never do for God to live across the street, Or in the house next door, where we should daily meet; So in His wisdom and His Love He sometimes sends His angels kind to walk with us—'twas them 'friends'."

Just friends—one word! But letters can express a wealth of sympathy and pure unselfishness. One syllable—a single breath can form it—friends.

Yet O how much our happiness on them depends! When trouble comes, or loss, when grief is ours to bear.

They come, our friends, with words of cheer, our load to share. How could we face defeat without a friend's caress?

Had we no friends to praise, how bare would be success! 'Tis not God's plan that we shall see him face to face.

Yet He would hedge us in with his abounding grace, And so His messengers of love to earth He sends.

They're angels, but we know it not, and call them "friends."

In resuming my column, after a two week's lapse, brought about by deep sorrow and tragedy in my home, the above poem seems to express my feelings toward my wonderful friends, that have rallied so closely and faithfully around me and my sister, that a mere note of thanks seems empty words, and I would like to proclaim to the world that the best people on earth live in Hope—"Friends in need, are friends indeed," has been thoroughly demonstrated, and we want to say to each and every one "Thank you," and that our hearts are filled with gratitude and love.

Nazarene Meet Will Continue

Special Music to Be Offered This Week by Cook Trio

The revival meeting at the Church of the Nazarene has been steadily increasing in crowds and interest. The pastor announces that it will continue on until next Sunday night. Services each evening begin at 7:30.

Rev. Calhoun announces his subject for Monday night will be "Christ as Our High Priest." He says in part: "Christ is a better High Priest than Aaron both in order and ministry."

He is our high priest on earth. He offered Himself as a sacrifice for sin to satisfy divine justice.

He is our high priest in heaven. In some strange but real manner He intercedes for His people that they might be "Justified." Rom. 5:1; "Sanctified," Heb. 10:14; "Unfined," Elyp. 4:7-10; "Fortified," Rom. 8:35-39; "Glorified," this latter being the culmination of the sacrifice of Christ—the glorification of His redeemed ones.

Special singing each evening by the Cook trio, and visiting singers. You are cordially invited. A warm welcome awaits you.

Tribute to Curtis Given at Capitol

Former Vice-President to Be Buried in Kansas Tuesday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Capitol paid a last tribute Sunday to Charles Curtis before the body of the former vice president was placed aboard a train and started toward Topeka, Kan., for burial.

Led by Secretary of War and Mrs. Dean, hundreds high in officialdom called at the modest home in Cleveland Park, which the Indian-blooded Republican had shared with his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann.

Curtis died unexpectedly of a heart attack Saturday at the age of 78. Clad in formal morning attire, the body of the vice president in the Hoover administration, was laid in a black casket and placed in the living room of the Curtis home. On the wall near by was a full length portrait of him.

Arrangements were made to leave at 9 p.m. Sunday for Topeka. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the senate chamber of the Kansas state house.

ALLEY OOP

JUST WHEN THINGS WERE GOING SWELL, FOOZY'S MEDICINE HAVING PUT KING GUZZLE BACK ON HIS FEET, THE GRAND WIZER SHOWED UP WITH BLOOD IN HIS EYE...

YEH-WE HEARD THAT YOU WERE SICK, TOO!

IF HE OPENS HIS MOUTH, WE'LL DAMAGE WE DONE TO HIS CAVE, WE'RE SUNK!

RIGHT-AN' YCAN BET HE WILL—BUT TH' OL' TEAMWORK, HIS YAWP WILL KILL—IF ONE WORD HE UTTERS, I KNOW WHAT TO DO—AN' CREATING TH' DIVERSION IS UP TO YOU!

Teamwork Is Right

YEH...I WAS SICK, AWRIGHT—BUT THAT AINT WHAT IM HERE T'TALK ABOUT, NOW—THEM TWO—

HEY-LOOK!

WASH TUBBS

THERE! THAT'S THAT!

LULLI BELLE MAKES GOOD HER BOAST. SHE CLEARS THE TOWN OF GAMBLERS, AND FURTHERMORE PUTS SEVERAL DISREPUTABLE SPOTS OUT OF BUSINESS.

IT'S DONE SO EASILY THAT THE ENTIRE TOWN—EVEN THE ROWDIES—ARE LAVISH IN THEIR PRAISE.

YOU'RE VIPEE! WHAT THERE, A SHERIFF, KID!

HOORAY FER LULLI BELLE!

Peace for a Moment

HO HUM! NOTHIN' TO DO NOW, SUNDAY, BUT SET BACK AN' DRAW ME SAL'RY.

DING!

HUH! WOT SAT? HURRY! 6 GUN-MEN ARE HOLDIN' UP THE BANK!!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

I'M AFRAID HE'S TOO SMALL...HE COULDN'T STAND THE GAFF!

WHAT DO YOU WANT HIM FOR?

A CARNIVAL! WE OFFER PRIZES TO PEOPLE WHO CAN RIDE OUR BUCKERS FOR TWO MINUTES, AND WE CAN'T TAKE THE CHANCES ON GOING BROKE, PAYING OFF!

THE MAN FROM THE CARNIVAL, IN HIS QUEST FOR A BUCKER, VISITS THE SHADY-SIDE POUND....

THAT COLT, OVER THERE, WAS PICKED UP ON THE STREET THE OTHER DAY, AFTER RAISING CAIN WITH EVERYTHING THAT GOT IN HIS WAY!!

WELL, THAT COLT'S NAME IS DYNAMITE, AND HE LIVES UP TO IT! YOU'RE AN EX-JOCKEY, BUT IF YOU CAN STAY ABOARD HIS HURRICANE DECK, I'LL GIVE HIM TO YOU!

ACCORDING TO HORSEMEN, THERE ARE EIGHTEEN TRICKS A HORSE HAS FOR TOSSEING YOU...THAT BLASTED COLT KNOWS NINETEEN OF THEM!!
